

2012 Alaska Fish Photo Contest

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is now accepting submissions for its 2012 Alaska Fish Photo Contest! We are looking for great photos that can be used in educational materials to celebrate the diversity of Alaska's native fishes, their seasonal movements and behavior, and their importance to people and ecosystems in Alaska and beyond.

Rules.

Entries for the 2012 contest must be postmarked by November 1, 2012 (photos submitted after that date will be entered in the 2013 contest) • Whether you are an amateur or professional photographer, you may submit up to ten images • Submissions should be high resolution .tiff or .jpeg files (300+dpi) • Digital manipulation that changes the content or meaning of a photograph is not allowed (minor adjustments to brightness and color are acceptable) • Photos must have been shot within Alaska • Photos that have been previously published, accepted for publication, or are under consideration by other publications, are NOT eligible • Photographers retain all rights to their photographs • The Service reserves rights to publish submitted photos, as well as rights to reprint/reproduce and use photos for educational or promotional purposes in publications, displays, or the internet • Entrants agree that Service has the right to publish photo entries without compensation for reproduction • Employees of USFWS or immediate families can submit photos, but are not eligible for prizes • All submissions must include a signed entry form • Persons identifiable in the photo must also sign the entry form.